Watch a "Shark Tank" Experience in Grand Junction!

Chamber members and the public are invited to attend the Investor Panel presentations of this year's budding CEOs on Tuesday, March 15th, 6:00 PM at the Courtyard by Marriott. For the first time, these middle and high school students will be publicly pitching their companies to a panel of investors composed of this year's program sponsors. Up to $6,000 will be available to provide seed funding for the startup companies. In addition, one of the students will be selected as the Saunders Scholar and will compete regionally for up to $50,000 in scholarship funding. This year, that regional competition will take place in May.

There is no cost to attend this event and we urge the public to show their support for fostering free enterprise in today's youth by attending the Investor Panel and cheering on the community's youngest business owners. This is also an excellent opportunity for middle and high school students interested in applying for the program in the future to view what YEA! has provided the current class in terms of tools and skills.

Applications for the next Young Entrepreneurs Academy, slated to start in September, will be available at the event, but those wishing more information can also go to the national YEA! website (www.yeausa.org).

We want to especially thank our sponsors: City of Grand Junction, Home Loan, Capco, WPX Energy, Mesa County Workforce Center, Mesa County Valley School District 51, Alpine Bank, Bank of Colorado, Community Banks of Colorado, Mesa County Business Education Foundation, OBJ Group, US Bank and StarTek.

Chamber Hosts Tech Industry March 10th

The Chamber, in collaboration with Launch WestCO, is hosting the organization's monthly Beer and Business session in March. Part of the agenda for this gathering, besides the normal networking, will be to ask a series of questions of participants related to their industry sector needs in order to grow.

LAUNCH WestCO is a new initiative out of Grand Junction, Colorado to build a network and community of entrepreneurs, developers, designers and other entrepreneurial-minded people. LAUNCH WestCO exists to create connections, foster collaboration and to give a singular, strong voice to the entrepreneurial community in our region. Their area extends beyond Mesa County to communities such as Telluride and Glenwood Springs. The Business Incubator Center was a co-founder of the organization.

Chairman's Column

It is hard to believe how quickly this year seems to be flying by. The Annual Banquet is already behind us, energy briefings are underway, we have a number of ribbon cuttings under our belt and as I write this, the legislative trip is just days away. Although these events are just part of what your Grand Junction Chamber offers its members, they are part of the much larger Chamber goal of being the voice of business and economic development.

The goal of economic development is ultimately why I volunteered to be on the Chamber board. I am passionate about our community and enjoy working with others that share a common goal of making Grand Junction and the entire Western Slope a better and more prosperous place for what we call home. All of us that are working towards the goal of economic development face a number of challenges, and unfortunately there is no silver bullet or just that "one thing" that will guarantee success. Rather, economic development is often a series of small wins that when combined, make for a much larger win for everyone.

Starting next month, your Chamber will be launching the first Listening To Business of 2016. The goal of this program is to gather business people in similar industries for a series of round table discussions. These "round tables" are a forum with the purpose of identifying current and future obstacles that prevent growth in businesses. These obstacles may vary from industry to industry, but once an obstacle can be clearly articulated, the process of developing a strategy to help clear the obstacle becomes easier to develop. It is unrealistic to think that your Chamber can clear all the obstacles that an industry might face or that it will happen overnight, however, the Chamber can help clear the path of some of these challenges and create a series of smaller wins to help businesses grow. By your Chamber assisting a business or industry to create new jobs, make capital investments, lessen the impact of regulations or even make employees feel more connected to our community will create a positive ripple effect through the community.

With networking and marketing opportunities, the Young Entrepreneurs Academy, the Governmental Affairs Committee, Leadership Class, Emerging Workforce and now Listening To Business 2016, your Chamber will continue to use all its resources working towards being the voice of business and helping people grow their business.

Matthew Breman, Chairman

Display Your Membership Proudly

Our many volunteers are already out on the streets hand delivering the 2016 Business Directory and membership materials to our almost 1,000 members. These include a new window sticker, insert for the membership plaque and the 2016 Business Directory. Please welcome them to your business and share your thoughts on how the Chamber can better serve you this year. When you talk, we listen!

If you do not receive a visit and your membership materials by March 15th, please call the Chamber office (970-242-3214) and staff will ensure you receive the materials.

Apply for the 2016-2017 Leadership Program

Why would someone want to devote one day a month for ten months to participate in the Mesa County Leadership program? Here is what a few past participants have to say about their experiences.

"The leadership class was an amazing personal and professional experience. I walked away with a deeper understanding of our community, our state and myself, as well as lifelong friends."

Nathan Rhodes, Timberline Bank

"I learned a lot about opportunities within our community, be prepared for days filled with fun, good food, and lots of great information."

Nicole Millican, ANB Bank

"There was great exposure to the infrastructure that enables the Valley to work. The Denver trip is a real highlight and, of course, the greatest benefit is the networking with the other class participants and presenters"

Frank Whidden, Mesa County

"I learned more about our community in that 10-month class than I knew from living here my whole life. I recommend it to anyone who is invested in the future of the Grand Valley."

Kelsie Breidel, Ute Water

"The Chamber leadership class was one of the best experiences for me as a person and for my business. This class helped me open doors to community leaders that fostered relationships that have assisted with my company's growth. I recommend this class to every Chamber member I meet."

Matt Price, State Farm

"It was like taking a course on 'Here's how everything works in the valley' from the people that make it work. Getting that insight would not have happened for me if not for this program."

Jenny Fogarty, Kolorado Resources

The program was formed to educate future leaders of Mesa County about the fabric of the community, how various sectors are related and how to become more involved. This ten-month program touches on important subjects such as education, water in the West, various levels of government, health care, and much more. In addition, there is team building and leadership skill development.

Almost 250 outstanding local leaders have graduated from the program. Currently the Chamber is seeking applicants for the 2016/2017 class beginning in September 2016 and ending, May 2017. Applications are available online at www.gjchamber.org or if you'd like to discuss the program in greater detail contact Diane at the Chamber office, 970-242-3214. Deadline for applications is May 31, 2016.

What Will Your Kids Do Over Summer Vacation?

Time spent learning translates into a better prepared workforce and the Mesa County Business Education Foundation (MCBEF) is committed to helping identify and support community initiatives that offer opportunities for learning outside the classroom and/or on the job. With that in mind, the Foundation has teamed with other community organizations to offer a unique opportunity for parents to learn about summer options for younger aged students and summer employment opportunities for high schoolers at one location at one time.

The event, dubbed the Summer Youth Education and Employment Fair will take place on Thursday, April 7th, 4:00 PM to 6:30 PM at Grand Mesa Middle School. Booths from a variety of organizations will offer timely information and opportunities for one-on-one dialogue. If an organization would like to be a part of the Fair, they are urged to contact Terri Smatla at the Chamber (970-263-2916 or tsmatla@gjchamber.org). There is no cost for non-profit organizations to exhibit and a small fee is assessed on for profit entities. We are also seeking an overall sponsor for the event which was attended by over 600 people last year. Sponsorship benefits would include an exhibit space, a banner in the exhibit space, a flyer in the bags handed to families and prominent placement of sponsor's name on all printed materials. Contact Diane (970-263-2915 or diane@gjchamber.org) for more details. There is no cost to attend for parents and students interested in exploring options for maximizing their summer time experiences. So mark your calendars now!

EXPANSION INFORMATION SOUGHT

Has your company grown over the past 12 - 18 months?

If so, the Chamber would like to know about it! During the Chamber's Quarterly Membership Luncheons, we want to recognize the existing businesses that have grown over the past year. If your company has added employees and/or made a capital investment, let the Chamber office know about it by completing the form below, e-mailing us at diane@gjchamber.org or by calling the Chamber office (970-242-3214).

Oftentimes we celebrate when a new company comes to town and fail to acknowledge and thank those businesses that are already here and continuing to make investments in our community. Jobs created by local companies have the same economic impact as those imported to the community and the increased tax base created by investments of existing firms have the same benefits to local citizens as new companies moving here.

For the past eighteen years, the Chamber has given awards to expanding companies to publicly thank and recognize those firms who have continued to reinvest in Grand Junction. If you have questions, contact Diane at 970-242-3214 or diane@gjchamber.org.

March Energy Briefing

Dan Haley, the President and CEO of the Colorado Oil and Gas Association is the featured speaker for the Chamber's next Energy Briefing.

Prior to assuming his position Haley served as editorial page editor for the Denver post and as a media consultant including a stint at EIS.

Dan will share information on an economic impact study that was completed in early February that among other things shows that:

- The oil and gas industry contributed $1.2 billion to public revenues in 2014
- The average wage of an oil and gas employee is $105,168
- 79% of all direct jobs are located in five counties; Denver, Garfield, Mesa, Weld and Adams

Can Your Business Benefit from Business Connect?

On the third Wednesday of each month from 2:00 to 4:00 PM researchers from the Mesa County Library will be onsite at the Chamber to assist in developing lists of potential customers contact information. That date in March 16th. Not sure what your potential customers may look like or how best to market to them? We have you covered for that as well. Trisha Martinez, the Chamber's Membership and Marketing Manager can also meet with you during that time slot to explore these opportunities.

We advise that you make an appointment in order to assure that your time and ours is used most effectively. To schedule a marketing consult and generate a customer hit list contact Trisha (trisha@gjchamber.org) or call 970-263-2912.

Expansion Awards Presented at March Quarterly Meeting

The Chamber's next Quarterly Membership Luncheon will be on Monday, March 21st, 12:00 PM at the DoubleTree Hotel by Hilton. The keynote will be an update on Mesa County Valley School District 51 and their efforts to fundamentally transform learning for the Valley's students. The Chamber will once again be recognizing businesses in the Grand Valley that are continuing to invest and reinvest in building their businesses and adding jobs. If your company has made a capital investment and/or added jobs in the past twelve months we want to hear about it!

We would like to recognize you at this event and present you with our Hammer of Progress Award. Contact Diane (diane@gjchamber.org) or complete the form in this newsletter and forward it to Chamber staff.

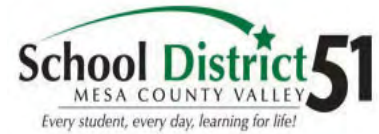

Congratulations to the 4th Quarter 2015 Business Expansion Award Recipients

Chamber Takes Action on Legislation

The Grand Junction Area Chamber of Commerce Governmental Affairs Committee has been hard at work taking action on various pieces of proposed legislation that will impact businesses. Shown below are some of the bills we are following and commenting on:

- HB16-1119- (Thurlow/Hobert)
This bill extends a sales tax exemption that already exists on large aircraft refurbishment projects. Currently the projects have to be finished within 120 days to be eligible for the sales tax exemption. This bill extends the time frame to 30 days past the completion of the work. It allows all aircraft repair companies in the state, Grand Junction's West Star Aviation in particular, to work on larger, more extensive projects. Currently, West Star employs over 400 people in Grand Junction. This bill will help them continue to grow and create more jobs.
Chamber supports
- HB16-1114 - (DelGrosso/Ulibarri)
Repeal Duplicate Reporting Standards
- SB16-076 - (Ulibarri/DelGrosso)
Repeal Employment Verification Law
Both bills are identical and repeal Colorado's Employment Verification Standards, which require filing the CDLE's Affirmation of Legal Work Status form for each employee and the retention and production of each employee's Federal I-9 form, subject to penalties of up to $25,000. The state paperwork is duplicative since the I-9 pretty much does the job.
Chamber supports

2016 Legislative Trip Participants

- HB16-1001 - (Danielson & Buckner)
State Contractor Certify Compliance with Equal Pay Laws
A business with more than 50 employees that bids for a government contract must certify compliance with state and federal equal pay standards. Knowingly submitting false information results in contract termination. While most of the bill's equal pay standards are already covered by state or federal law, the bill adds significant record keeping burdens, requires prime contractors to be responsible for the labor practices of their subcontractors and contains no due process provisions.
Chamber opposes
- SB16-067- (Scheffel/Williams)
This bill creates a property tax exemption for any locally assessed personal property that a broadband provider acquires on or after January 1, 2016 who builds broadband networks capable of providing at least 10 mbps download x 1 mbps upload broadband speeds. It is intended to promote future capital investment to connect unserved customers to high speed internet access. This is a vital infrastructure for retaining and attracting companies to our area.

New Member Mixer and YEA! Tradeshow

The Chamber is hosting a New Member Mixer in conjunction with the YEA! Tradeshow on Thursday, April 28, 2016 from 4:00 PM to 6:00 PM at the Mesa County Workforce Center.

All members are invited to stop by and learn more about the newest additions to the Chamber family which include restaurants, dance studios, retail, and IT services to name just a few. This year YEA! students will be displaying businesses ranging from mobile phone apps to fishing gear, candies and confections, as well as, young people who are taking a vested interest in social issues and creating non-profits.

There is no cost to attend. This event is open to the public and we hope you will invite your staffs and friends to come along with you. It will be a great way to make our new members feel welcome and offers existing members yet one more networking opportunity! For more information or to register your business, contact Trisha at 970-263-2912 or Trisha@gjchamber.org.
